

Well we had another fantastic day on our tow field today. The forecast was for light to moderate winds and sun so in typical Cloudbase tradition we went out training when it was flyable.

We flew all day and clocked up more than 60 flights not bad between two students and a tow conversation.

Congratulations to Norman for completing his EP and to Andy for getting through most of his CP.

Well done also to John for starting his Tow conversion having travelled up from Southampton after an early morning call from Nik.

Thanks also to Nik for helping out during the day and also filming the video below. Let's hope for some more weather like this.
